"Taxes are not enough"

Editorial, D.C.J.

The above is a direct quote from a neighbor who spends weekends training as a citizen soldier. What a masterpiece of understatement. Recently, in our revulsion with and hatred of war, many have forgotten what keeps our peace. It is certainly not money alone.

The mind is a wondrous vehicle - a time machine with the speed of light. In thinking about the citizen soldier, take a trip back in time to another Easter Sunday a third of a century in the past. As the dawn broke that Easter, it painted with color the greatest armada ever assembled on any ocean in the history of the world. This fleet numbered 1400 vessels, large and small, and carried countless small craft. It carried more than that, It carried a good portion of the youth of a nation. It carried material - the result of the toil of their mothers and fathers who had built their weapons, wove their uniforms and launched their ships. Every shell, every button, every plane, every motor, every helmet had been made with care in the U.S.A. These 18, 19, 20 year old youths under the command of "old men" of 25 or 27 and 30 did not assemble for pay. They had fought island to island to that point in battles so bloody that money no longer had meaning. Survival was a hope but death was surely present. No formal service was held that Sunday dawn. The roar of engines gunning the landing craft in tight circles was soon drowned in man made thunder as thousands of gun spoke. In this unholy din, hundreds of thousands of individual prayers were offered in solitude in the greatest sunrise service ever. The citizen soldier and sailor, in one of his finer hours, stood in both fear and courage and fought with the weapons and hopes of his country in his hands. This is not to glorify war. The sweat was stinking as it flowed despite the cold dawn air. The bodies of many fine American youths would be torn apart that day and in the drawn out hand to hand fighting which followed. No, war has no glory. The only glory is in moral fiber. When people summon courage to defend an ideal - that is glorious. Ernie Pyle went ashore that Easter morning. He was a tired, slight civilian haunted by the images of too many battles. His face reflected both revulsion and compassion. He wrote the diary of the citizen soldier. Ten days later in the dirt of an insignificant island he was dead. The stories he wrote were simple and true, day to day accounts of mud and dread and gallantry. Easter is a gentle day. None looked more gently upon the soldier than Ernie Pyle. No one wrote of the citizen soldier with more admiration, all over Europe, in the Pacific, at Okinawa in the end.

Two hundred years ago we began with men who fought against impossible odds. Through two centuries we have always had this resource of strength to defend our nation. When the young no longer support our system with sacrifice of time, we will no longer deserve to live free. Taxes are never enough. Money cannot buy the courageous.

A free society can't live without the unselfish.

ation recognized the outstanding contribution to education by Maurice Tavares in a citation awarded Monday night, April 12th. This award by this group of educators is a first for a Mattapoisett resident.

In its selection of Mr. Tavares for this award, the Association noted his dedication to children, their activities both in school and out. Mr. Tavares has a unique rapport with youngsters, stemming partly from his work at Center School in Mattapoisett, but only in part. His position as custodian has placed Mr. Tavares in contact with class after class of children in the beginning grades of school. Mr. Tavares' interest in these children carries over into his leisure time which he devotes generously to his multitude of young friends. Mr. Tavares is known affectionately as "Mudgy" to all of his many friends. He is the spirit and guiding hand behind the highly successful Mattapoisett Track Club which has swept to victory in meet after meet in this section of Massachusetts. It is the Tavares' car which busily transports this group to their events. It is this gentleman on the sidelines and training field that is the solid support in the interest of these outstanding youngsters.

Beyond this, Mr. Tavares devotes many hours of his own time to a mini class of fourth grade students. He teaches them skills and, by his guidance and personal interest, he develops a positive attitude toward school and the educational process in children who need an adult example to emulate.

For these reasons and many others Mr. Tavares has been singled out as a layman for outstanding contributions to education in Plymouth County.

mission, the 96-page magazine contains many historical articles, photographs, illustrations, and other material describing various aspects of Marion's past.

One article presents an overview of Marion's development from the early 1600s when this area was first discovered, and a chronology accompanies this piece. Other articles cover such aspects of the past as education, summer people, Tabor Academy and Elizabeth Taber, and maritime aspects of the town's history. The latter article is also illustrated with original drawings by its author, Bert Bigelow. A religious history of Marion is also presented.

One of the articles is in the form of a diary, supposedly written by Abraham Holmes, a resident of Rochester during the revolution. This diary, given anonymously to the Bicentennial Commission, mysteriously appeared on a desk at the Town Hall recently, and contains Mr. Holmes' impressions of Marion and its people as they are today.

The magazine "Sippican 76" also contains information on upcoming events for the Bicentennial year, as well as an editorial on

"Pajama Game"

The fun and excitement of being involved with the production of "Pajama Game" is over, but the memories linger on for the performers, crew and the audience, as well.

Mrs. Sue Aaronson did a superb job of directing the play, which in many cases consisted of teaching the young people some acting basics -- getting himself or herself into the character and "letting yourself go".

Mr. Gary Thomas put together a terrific pit orchestra which not only sounded great, but also succeeded in playing not too fast--or too slow--or too loud--or too soft for what was happening on stage. It's a difficult job which looked easy because of how well it was done.

Congratulations to all for a fine job and an entertaining evening!

Major Cattley notes that the reserves are the last of the citizen army since the United States' standing army has been converted to a completely professional force. Bible Study

CELEBRATING THIRD

The Wednesday Afternoon Bible Study Group marks its third anniversary this month. A non-denominational group of men and women, it meets every Wednesday from 1:15-2:30 at 218 North Street for the sole purpose of a systematic study of the world's all-time best seller.

Books studied previously have included the Gospel of John, Esther, 1st John, Daniel and Job, while the book of Mark is planned for the spring months' study. This is of intense interest at this season for it is the life story of Jesus Christ, and the Rev. Stanley E. Decker, group leader, will explore the relationship of the material to present day situations.

All local residents are always cordially welcomed whether or not they have had any previous Biblical experience. Sessions are very informal and no outside preparation is expected. Refreshments and free child care add to the pleasure of an afternoon's respite from the cares of a busy week.

Further information can be obtained by calling Pat Tate at 758-6563.

NOTICE

In this issue of the Presto Press a notice of Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate is being published by Southeastern Bank and Trust Company against Stephen J. Lombard and Jocelyn M. Lombard. This particular foreclosure action is being brought as the result of a dispute between Mr. Lombard and others and the Southeastern Bank.

Mr. Lombard is a stockholder and former employee of A.C. T.S., Inc., a Fairhaven accounting, bookkeeping and computer services corporation which is now out of business. A.C.T.S., Inc. had executed an agreement whereby it would be acquired by and merged into Southeastern Bancorp, the parent company of Southeastern Bank and Trust Company.

On or about February 14, 1975 A.C.T.S., Inc. and its principal stockholders filed a civil action in Superior Court asking that Southeastern Bancorp complete the purchase agreement to acquire A.C.T.S., Inc. and asking for damages of $750,000.00. The suit alleges that the Bancorp failed to live up to its purchase agreement and that its policies caused A.C.T.S., Inc. and its stockholders to suffer financial damages.

Southeastern Bank and Trust Company holds a second mortgage on Mr. Lombard's residence and on real estate of two other A.C.T.S., Inc. stockholders, mortgages which were given as additional security for a certain A.C.T.S., Inc. loan. The Small Business Administration recently repaid to the bank 90% of the amount of this loan.

Mr. Lombard has a first mortgage on his house with the New Bedford Five Cents Savings Bank which is completely up to date.

Mr. Lombard and other stockholders are currently seeking to restrain the Southeastern Bank and Trust Company from proceeding with this foreclosure pending the outcome of the principal lawsuit. Formal complaints and requests for investigation and intervention are also being made by Mr. Lombard and others to the state Banking Commissioner.

Signed: Stephen J. Lombard
